

AMERICAN ANTITRUST INSTITUTE ANNUAL CONFERENCE

BIOGRAPHIES OF SPEAKERS

Jonathan B. Baker, Professor of Law, American University Washington College of Law

Jonathan B. Baker is Professor of Law at American University Washington College of Law, where he teaches courses primarily in the areas of antitrust and economic regulation. He served as the Chief Economist of the Federal Communications Commission from 2009 to 2011, and as the Director of the Bureau of Economics at the Federal Trade Commission from 1995 to 1998. Previously, he worked as a Senior Economist at the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Special Assistant to the Deputy Assistant Attorney General for Economics in the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice, an Assistant Professor at Dartmouth's Amos Tuck School of Business Administration, an Attorney Advisor to the Acting Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, and an antitrust lawyer in private practice. Professor Baker is the co-author of an antitrust casebook, a past Editorial Chair of Antitrust Law Journal, and a past member of the Council of the American Bar Association's Section of Antitrust Law. He has published widely in the fields of antitrust law, policy, and economics. Professor Baker has received the Jerry S. Cohen Award for Antitrust Scholarship, American University's Faculty Award for Outstanding Scholarship, Research, and Other Professional Accomplishments, and the Federal Trade Commission's Award for Distinguished Service. He has a J.D. from Harvard and a Ph.D. in economics from Stanford University.

Richard Brunell, Vice President and General Counsel, American Antitrust Institute

Returning to the AAI after a stint as Senior Advisor for Competition Matters at the Federal Trade Commission, Richard Brunell previously practiced in the litigation department at Foley Hoag LLP in Boston, the Massachusetts Attorney General's Office, and at the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department. A contributing editor of the Antitrust Law Journal, Mr. Brunell is the author of numerous antitrust articles and book chapters. He has testified before Congress and the Federal Trade Commission and is a frequent speaker at national and international conferences. Mr. Brunell is a graduate of Swarthmore College and the Harvard Law School, where he was an editor of the Harvard Law Review. He has taught as an adjunct and visiting professor at Boston University School of Law and Boston College Law School.

Dennis W. Carlton, David McDaniel Keller Professor of Economics, Booth School of Business, University of Chicago

Dennis W. Carlton focuses his research on microeconomics, industrial organization, and antitrust. He has published more than 100 articles and two books, including one of the leading textbooks in industrial organization. He is also the coeditor of the Journal of Law and Economics and is on the editorial boards of Competition Policy International and the Journal of Competition Law and Economics. From 2006 to 2008, he served as the Deputy Assistant Attorney General for Economic Analysis at the U.S. Department of Justice.

He is the recipient of a number of awards, including a John Harvard Award in 1970, a National Science

RESEARCH • EDUCATION • ADVOCACY

WWW.ANTITRUSTINSTITUTE.ORG  @ANTITRUSTINST

Foundation Fellowship from 1972 to 1975, and the 1977 P.W.S. Andrews Memorial Prize Essay for the best essay in the field of industrial organization by a scholar under the age of 30, and the 2008 Robert F Lanzillotti prize for the best essay in antitrust economics. He was designated the 2014 Distinguished Fellow of the Industrial Organization Society. In 2014, he was also designated by the publication, Global Competition Review, as Economist of the Year. His research has been funded by the National Science Foundation and the Lincoln Foundation.

He has served as an advisor on antitrust matters to the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission, and to private clients. He has served as a commissioner on the Antitrust Modernization Commission, a congressional committee investigating the antitrust laws. Carlton earned a master's degree in operations research and a PhD in economics from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1974 and 1975 and a bachelor's degree summa cum laude in 1972 from Harvard College, where he majored in applied mathematics and economics and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He joined the Chicago Booth faculty in 1984.

Stephen Calkins, Professor of Law, Wayne State University

Stephen Calkins is Professor of Law at the Wayne State University Law School, where he teaches courses and seminars in antitrust and trade regulation, consumer law, and torts. He has taught at the Universities of Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Utrecht (The Netherlands), and served as Wayne State University's associate provost and the Law School's interim dean. He recently returned from almost four years in Ireland, where he served as a Commissioner of the Competition and Consumer Protection Commission and before that as a Member of the Competition Authority and Director of the Authority's Mergers Division. While in Ireland he served as Adjunct Professor at University of Dublin Sutherland College of Law. During 1995-97, Professor Calkins served as General Counsel of the Federal Trade Commission. Professor Calkins lectures widely throughout the U.S. and abroad, is a journal editor, and has authored many publications on competition and consumer law and policy and related subjects, including the co-authored 4th edition of ANTITRUST LAW: POLICY AND PRACTICE, the co-authored 5th edition of ANTITRUST LAW AND ECONOMICS IN A NUTSHELL, and the co-edited CONSUMER PROTECTION LAW DEVELOPMENTS. He is a life member of the American Law Institute, a fellow of the European Law Institute and of the American Bar Foundation, and a member of the advisory board of the American Antitrust Institute. He served three three-year terms on the Council of the American Bar Association Section of Antitrust Law and is a former member of the Council of the ABA Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice. He is also a former chair of the Association of American Law School's Antitrust and Economic Regulation Committee. He holds degrees from Yale (B.A.) and Harvard (J.D.).

Alan Devlin, Acting Deputy Director, Bureau of Competition, Federal Trade Commission

Alan Devlin is Acting Deputy Director of the FTC's Bureau of Competition, and an Adjunct Professor at Georgetown Law. Previously, he served as Attorney Advisor to the Hon. Maureen K. Ohlhausen, Acting Chairman of the FTC. Before then, he was a senior associate in the San Francisco office of Latham & Watkins LLP, and served as a law clerk to the (late) Hon. Richard D. Cudahy of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit and to the Hon. Amy J. St. Eve of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

Mr. Devlin is the author of two books, Antitrust and Patent Law (Oxford 2016) and Fundamental Principles of Law and Economics (Routledge 2014), and over thirty law-review articles. His writings appear in the Stanford

Law Review, the Northwestern University Law Review, the Minnesota Law Review, the William & Mary Law Review, the Harvard Journal of Law & Technology, the Harvard Journal of Law & Public Policy, and elsewhere.

Mr. Devlin received his doctorate in jurisprudence (J.S.D.) from the University of Chicago under the supervision of the Hon. Richard A. Posner. He also holds a J.D. from Stanford Law School, where he was Articles Editor for the Stanford Law Review, and a first-class-honors degree in business and law from University College Dublin.

Harry First, Charles L. Denison Professor of Law, Co-Director, Competition, Innovation, and Information Law Program, New York University School of Law

Harry First is the Charles L. Denison Professor of Law at New York University School of Law and Co-Director of the law school's Competition, Innovation, and Information Law Program. From 1999-2001 he served as Chief of the Antitrust Bureau of the Office of the Attorney General of the State of New York. Professor First's teaching interests include antitrust, regulated industries, international and comparative antitrust, business crime, and innovation policy. Professor First is the co-author of the casebook Free Enterprise and Economic Organization: Antitrust (7th Ed. 2014) (with John Flynn and Darren Bush), as well as a casebook on regulated industries (with John Flynn). He was twice a Fulbright Research Fellow in Japan and taught antitrust as an adjunct professor at the University of Tokyo.

Professor First's most recent scholarly work has focused on various aspects of antitrust enforcement and theory. These include: The Microsoft Antitrust Cases: Competition Policy for the Twenty-first Century (with Andrew I. Gavil) (MIT Press, 2014), winner of the Jerry S. Cohen Memorial Fund Writing Award for Antitrust Scholarship; "Exploitative Abuses of Intellectual Property Rights" in The Cambridge Handbook of Antitrust, Intellectual Property, and High Tech (2017); "Philadelphia National Bank, Globalization, and the Public Interest" (Antitrust Law Journal, 2015) (with Eleanor M. Fox); "Your Money and Your Life: The Export of U.S. Antitrust Remedies" in Global Competition Law and Economics (Stanford Univ. Press, 2013); "Antitrust's Democracy Deficit" (with Spencer Weber Waller) (Fordham Law Review, 2013), winner of the Institute of Competition Law's 2014 Antitrust Writing Award for Best General Antitrust Academic Article; and two chapters in The Design of Competition Law Institutions: Global Norms, Local Choices (Oxford Univ. Press, 2013), one dealing with the United States (with Eleanor Fox and Daniel Hemli), the other with Japan (with Tadashi Shiraishi). First is also the author of a casebook on business crime and of "Business Crime and the Public Interest: Lawyers, Legislators, and the Administrative State" (University of California Irvine Law Review, 2012).

Professor First is a contributing editor of the Antitrust Law Journal, foreign antitrust editor of the Antitrust Bulletin, a member of the executive committee of the Antitrust Section of the New York State Bar Association, and a member of the advisory board and a Senior Fellow of the American Antitrust Institute.

Andrew I. Gavil, Professor of Law, Howard University School of Law; Senior Of Counsel, Crowell & Moring LLP

Professor Andy Gavil has been a member of the Howard faculty since 1989 and has taught courses on antitrust law, civil procedure, complex litigation, federal courts, federal regulation, and information privacy and data security. He has written, lectured, and commented extensively on antitrust law and procedure. Particular areas of interest include the role of the U.S. Supreme Court in formulating antitrust rules, antitrust litigation, exclusionary conduct by dominant firms, regulatory responses to new and disruptive technologies, firms, and business models, indirect purchaser rights, expert economic testimony and economic evidence, and comparative and international perspectives on competition policy. He has co-authored several books, including Andrew I. Gavil & Harry First, Microsoft and the Globalization of Antitrust Law: Competition Policy for the Twenty-First Century (2014), and, with Professors William E. Kovacic, Jonathan B. Baker, and Joshua D. Wright, Antitrust Law in Perspective: Cases Concepts and Problems in Competition Policy (3d ed. 2017).

From September 2012 to December 2014, Professor Gavil served as the Director of the Office of Policy Planning at the U.S. Federal Trade Commission. He also has been recognized by the Section of Antitrust Law of the American Bar Association for his contributions to the work of the Section and currently serves as the Chair of the Editorial Board of the Antitrust Law Journal and Chair of the Section's International Scholar in Residence Selection Committee. Professor Gavil received his B.A. magna cum laude in 1978 from Queens College of the City University of New York, and his J.D. in 1981 from Northwestern University School of Law, where he was a member of the Law Review.

Pamela Gilbert, Partner, Cuneo Gilbert & LaDuca, LLP

Pamela Gilbert has over 25 years of experience in consumer advocacy in Washington, D.C. She has testified before the U.S. Congress over 50 times and has made dozens of appearances in the national print and electronic media. She served as the leader of President Obama's transition team for the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Ms. Gilbert served as Executive Director of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (1995-2001), the agency's senior staff position. She supervised a staff of approximately 500, including 25 attorneys; was responsible for the full range of government management issues; and helped persuade Congress and the administration to increase funding to the agency by nearly 40 percent. Ms. Gilbert also served as Consumer Program Director at the U.S. Public Interest Research Group (1984-1989) where she specialized in civil justice and consumer protection issues. She worked for Public Citizen's Congress Watch (1989-1994), one of Washington's largest consumer advocacy organizations, first as Legislative Director and then as Executive Director.

Ms. Gilbert focuses her practice on government relations matters. She represents a wide variety of clients before Congress, the executive branch, and regulatory agencies. She is one of the leading advocates in Washington, D.C., working to preserve access to the civil justice system for both individuals and businesses. Ms. Gilbert was chosen as Consumer Advocate of the Year by the Trial Lawyers' Association of Metropolitan Washington in 1995. She is a Director of the American Antitrust Institute.

Joseph Goldberg, Partner, Freedman Boyd Hollander Goldberg and Urias, P.A.

Joe Goldberg has been a senior shareholder in the law firm since 1991. After teaching in law schools for nearly twenty years, he has now been in active private practice for more than twenty-five years. His practice is largely limited to antitrust, class actions, complex commercial litigation and election law.

Mr. Goldberg is recognized nationally and internationally as one of the top plaintiffs' antitrust litigators in the country. He has tried a number of cases to multi-million dollar verdicts and judgments and has recovered for his clients, by judgment or settlement, over $9 billion. In 2013, Mr. Goldberg was the lead trial lawyer for the plaintiffs in In Re Urethane Litigation, Civil No. 04-md-1616-JWL (United States District Court, District of Kansas) in which the jury awarded more than $400 million in damages. That jury verdict, trebled to a judgment of more than one billion dollars, was the largest jury verdict in the United States in 2013 and is reported to be the largest price-fixing verdict in the history of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Mr. Goldberg has taken leadership positions in a number of national class actions, including Commercial Explosives Price-Fixing Litigation, Polypropylene Carpet Antitrust Litigation, Nasdaq Marketmakers Antitrust Litigation, Specialty Steel Antitrust Litigation, Bulk Vitamins Antitrust Litigation, Visa/Mastercard Interchange Fee Antitrust Litigation, Urethanes Antitrust Litigation, among others.

Mr. Goldberg was on the full-time faculties of the University of North Dakota and the University of New Mexico Law Schools, from 1969 through 1987. He also served as the General Counsel for the University of New Mexico. He was a law clerk for Hon. M. Joseph Blumenfeld of the United States District Court for the District of Connecticut. He also served as the Secretary of the New Mexico Human Services Department and Secretary of the New Mexico Health & Environment Department. Mr. Goldberg currently serves on the Advisory Board of the American Antitrust Institute, on the Board of Overseers for the Searle Civil Justice Institute at George Mason University and on the United States Advisory Board for the Loyola University Institute for Consumer Antitrust Studies.

Scott Hemphill, Professor of Law, New York University School of Law

Scott Hemphill teaches and writes about antitrust, intellectual property, and regulation of industry. His research focuses on the law and economics of competition and innovation, and his scholarship ranges broadly, from drug patents to net neutrality to fashion and intellectual property. Hemphill's recent work examines the antitrust problem of parallel exclusion in concentrated industries and anticompetitive settlements of patent litigation by drug makers. His scholarship has been cited by the US Supreme Court and the California Supreme Court, among others, and has formed the basis for congressional testimony on matters of regulatory policy. Hemphill's writing has appeared in law reviews, peer-reviewed journals, and the popular press, including the Yale Law Journal, Science, and the Wall Street Journal. He joined NYU from Columbia Law School, where he was a professor of law. Hemphill has also served as antitrust bureau chief for the New York Attorney General and clerked for Judge Richard Posner of the US Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit and Justice Antonin Scalia of the Supreme Court. He holds a JD and PhD in economics from Stanford, an AB from Harvard, and an MSc in economics from the London School of Economics, where he studied as a Fulbright Scholar.

Caroline Holland, Tech Policy Fellow, Mozilla Foundation

Caroline Holland is currently serving as a Tech Policy Fellow with the Mozilla Foundation. She is exploring antitrust and competition policy issues as they relate to promoting and protecting an open and healthy internet. Caroline served in the Obama Administration at the Department of Justice Antitrust Division as the Chief Counsel for Competition Policy and Intergovernmental Relations. In that role, she was involved in several high-profile matters while managing the Division's competition policy and advocacy efforts, interagency policy initiatives, and congressional relations. Ms. Holland previously served as the Chief Counsel to the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee where she advised Chairmen Klobuchar and Kohl on antitrust policy and competition issues in a wide variety of industries including telecommunications, intellectual property, and transportation as well as with respect to criminal antitrust enforcement. Before taking on this role, she was a counsel on the Senate Judiciary Committee and an attorney in private practice at Patton Boggs focusing on public policy and regulatory work.

Ms. Holland holds a J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center and a B.A. in Public Policy from Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut. Between college and law school, Ms. Holland spent a year with the Antitrust Division as an honors paralegal and two years as Clerk of the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee.

John Kwoka, Neal F. Finnegan Distinguished Professor of Economics, Northeastern University

John E. Kwoka teaches industrial organization, antitrust, and regulatory economics. Professor Kwoka has written and lectured extensively on issues of market concentration, mergers and merger remedies, promotional practices, privatization, price cap regulation, professional practice restrictions, and vertical integration in numerous industry settings. He has previously taught at several universities and served in various capacities at the Federal Trade Commission, the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice, and the Federal Communications Commission. His book The Antitrust Revolution, co-edited with L.J. White, is a compilation of case studies of major antitrust proceedings and is now in its sixth edition. His most recent book Mergers, Merger Control, and Remedies: A Retrospective on U.S. Policy evaluates the effects of mergers and the effectiveness of merger control and remedy policy and has recently been published by MIT Press. He is a Director of the American Antitrust Institute.

Robert H. Lande, Venable Professor of Law, University of Baltimore School of Law

Robert H. Lande, the AAI's first Senior Fellow and a co-founding Director of the AAI, served the AAI on a full-time basis during three different periods. He is the Venable Professor of Law at the University of Baltimore. Professor Lande is the author of numerous law review articles relating to antitrust, is a frequent speaker at antitrust events, and is often quoted in the trade press. A graduate of Harvard University (J.D., M.P.P.) and Northwestern University (B.A.), he has served in the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Competition and was associated with Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue.

Eric Mahr, Director of Litigation, Antitrust Division, U.S. Department of Justice

Eric Mahr is the Director of Litigation for the U.S. Department of Justice's Antitrust Division. In that role, he is responsible for overseeing the Department's civil and criminal antitrust litigation efforts. Prior to joining the Division, Mr. Mahr was a partner with WilmerHale in Washington, D.C., focusing on antitrust and civil litigation. From 1999 to 2004, Mr. Mahr was resident in WilmerHale's Brussels, Belgium office, where he practiced before the European Commission and various national competition authorities. Before joining WilmerHale, he was a Trial Attorney in the U.S. Department of Justice Civil Division, Federal Programs Branch, and clerked for the Honorable Raymond J. Broderick of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Mr. Mahr received his B.A. from Bucknell University in 1987, and his J.D. from the University of Pittsburgh, magna cum laude, in 1990.

Terrell McSweeney, Commissioner, Federal Trade Commission

Terrell McSweeney was sworn in as a Commissioner of the Federal Trade Commission on April 28, 2014, to a term that expires in September 2017. Prior to joining the Commission, Ms. McSweeney served as Chief Counsel for Competition Policy and Intergovernmental Relations for the U.S. Department of Justice Antitrust Division. She joined the Antitrust Division after serving as Deputy Assistant to the President and Domestic Policy Advisor to the Vice President from January 2009 until February 2012, advising President Obama and Vice President Biden on policy in a variety of areas, including health care, innovation, intellectual property, energy, education, women's rights, criminal justice and domestic violence.

Ms. McSweeney's government service also includes her work as Senator Joe Biden's Deputy Chief of Staff and Policy Director in the U.S. Senate, where she managed domestic and economic policy development and legislative initiatives, and as Counsel on the Senate Judiciary Committee, where she worked on issues such as criminal justice, innovation, women's rights, domestic violence, judicial nominations and immigration and civil rights. She also worked as an attorney at O'Melveny & Myers LLP. Ms. McSweeney is a graduate of Harvard University and Georgetown University Law School.

Ellen Meriwether, Partner, Cafferty Clobes Meriwether & Sprengel LLP

Ellen Meriwether has been a litigation partner with Cafferty Clobes Meriwether & Sprengel LLP since its inception in 1992 and is resident in its Philadelphia, Pennsylvania office. Meriwether concentrates her practice in the field of antitrust law and has had an active role in many of the firm's most successful actions including: In re Insurance Brokerage Antitrust Litig. (D.N.J.) (cumulative settlements in an amount in excess of $270 million); Nichols v. SmithKlineBeecham Corp. (E.D. Pa.) (consumer and third party payor settlement of $65 million); In re Relafen Antitrust Litigation (D. Mass.) (consumer and third party settlement of $75 million).

Among her other professional activities, Ms. Meriwether is articles editor of ANTITRUST, a publication by the section of Antitrust Law of the American Bar Association and her publications include: "The Fiftieth Anniversary of Rule 23: Are Class Actions on the Precipice?," Antitrust, (Vol. 30, No. 2, Spring 2016); "Motorola Mobility and the FTAIA: If Not Here, Then Where," Antitrust, (Vol. 29, No. 2, Spring 2015); "Comcast Corp. v. Behrend: Game Changing or Business as Usual?," Antitrust, Vol. 27, No. 3, Summer 2013; "Class Action Waiver And the Effective Vindication Doctrine At the Antitrust/Arbitration Crossroads," Antitrust, Vol. 26 No.3, Summer 2012; "The Hazards of Dukes: Antitrust Plaintiffs Need Not Fear the Supreme Court's Decision," Antitrust, Vol. 26, No. 1, Fall 2011.

Diana L. Moss, President, American Antitrust Institute

Diana L. Moss became the President of the American Antitrust Institute in January 2015. An economist, Dr. Moss has developed and expanded AAI's advocacy channels and strategies, and strengthened communications with enforcers, Congress, other advocacy groups, and the media. Her work spans both antitrust and regulation, with industry expertise in electricity, petroleum, agriculture, airlines, telecommunications, and healthcare. Before joining AAI in 2001, Dr. Moss was at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, where she coordinated the agency's competition analysis for electricity mergers. From 1989 to 1994, she consulted in private practice in the areas of regulation and antitrust. Dr. Moss has spoken widely on various topics involving competition policy and enforcement, testified before Congress, appeared before state and federal regulatory commissions, and made numerous radio and television appearances. She has published articles in a number of economic and legal academic journals, including: American Economic Review, Journal of Industrial Organization, the Energy Law Journal, and the Antitrust Bulletin. She is editor of Network Access, Regulation and Antitrust (2005). Dr. Moss is Adjunct Faculty in the Department of Economics at the University of Colorado at Boulder. She holds a M.A. degree from the University of Denver and a Ph.D. from the Colorado School of Mines.

Nancy Rose, Charles P. Kindleberger Professor of Applied Economics, Department of Economics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Nancy L. Rose's research and teaching focuses on industrial organization, competition policy, and the economics of regulation. She served as Deputy Assistant Attorney General for Economic Analysis in the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice from 2014 to 2016. She was the director of the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER) research program in Industrial Organization from its creation in 1991 until her appointment to the Department of Justice in 2014.

Her research includes analyses of economic regulation and firm behavior in a variety of transportation and energy markets, as well as of labor rent-sharing and determinants of executive pay. Her edited volume Economic Regulation and Its Reform: What Have We Learned? (NBER, 2014) describes the regulatory landscapes and lessons learned from deregulation and regulatory restructuring across eight broad industries, and the interplay of competition policy and economic regulation. Professor Rose received her Ph.D. in Economics from MIT and an A.B. in Economics and Government from Harvard University. Her accomplishments have been recognized by numerous fellowships over her career, including those from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences, Hoover Institution, John Simon Guggenheim Foundation, and National Science Foundation. She received the MIT Undergraduate Economics Association Teaching Award in 2000, 2004, and 2011, and was named a Margaret MacVicar Faculty Fellow in 2012 for her contributions to undergraduate teaching at MIT.

Her professional service includes terms as Vice President and Executive Committee member of the American Economic Association (AEA), chair of the AEA Ad Hoc Committee on the Economics Job Market, and board member of the AEA's Committee on the Status of Women in the Economics Profession, among other service. She was a member of the Board of Editors of the American Economic Review and the Journal of Industrial Economics, and as associate editor for several journals.

She has served as an independent director for Charles River Associates, Sentinel Investments, and the Whitehead Institute for Biomedical Research, and in those roles has chaired board governance and finance committees.

Jonathan B. Sallet, Partner, Steptoe & Johnson LLP

Jonathan Sallet, a partner in Steptoe's Washington, DC office, provides counsel and litigation strategy on matters involving antitrust law, communications law, and broader issues of competition policy. In addition to his years in private practice, Jon recently served as general counsel of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and as deputy assistant attorney general in the Antitrust Division of the US Department of Justice (DOJ). In the Clinton Administration, he served in the US Department of Commerce (DOC), focusing on technology-policy issues.

Bonny E. Sweeney, Partner, Hausfeld

Bonny E. Sweeney, a leading antitrust litigator, is a Partner in the San Francisco office of Hausfeld. Ms. Sweeney has represented clients in some of the most significant antitrust cases in the United States in the last 20 years. She previously served as co-lead counsel on behalf of a class of merchants in In re Payment Card Interchange Fee and Merchant Discount Antitrust Litig. (E.D.N.Y.), a sprawling litigation against the world's largest credit card companies. Ms. Sweeney, together with Hausfeld, also served as co-lead counsel in In re Aftermarket Auto Lights Antitrust Litig. (C.D. Cal.), which settled for more than $50 million, and in which counsel obtained a landmark decision denying a leniency applicant's bid for reduced civil damages under the Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act (ACPERA), because the defendant had not provided satisfactory or timely cooperation under the statute.

The Daily Journal recognized these legal achievements in May 2014, naming Ms. Sweeney as one of the Top Women Lawyers in its Annual List of 100 Leading Women Lawyers in California. Ms. Sweeney was also named as a Local Litigation Star in Antitrust in 2016 by Benchmark Litigation Rankings, and as Litigator of the Week by Global Competition Review in 2014. Ms. Sweeney served as lead trial counsel for the plaintiff class in In re iPod iTunes Antitrust Litig., which was tried to a jury in 2014, and was also one of the trial lawyers in Law v. NCAA/Hall v. NCAA/ Schreiber v. NCAA (D. Kan.), in which the jury awarded $67 million to three classes of college coaches. She has participated in the successful prosecution and settlement of numerous other antitrust and unfair competition cases, including In re Currency Conversion Fee Antitrust Litig. (S.D.N.Y.), which settled for $336 million.

Ms. Sweeney currently serves as lead or co-lead counsel in several pending antitrust class actions, including In re Contact Lens Antitrust Litig. (M.D. Fla.), In re Packaged Seafood Products Antitrust Litig. (S.D. Cal.), and In re Parking Heaters Antitrust Litig. (E.D.N.Y.).